Registerin PatternMaker

Do I need to register?

If you're happy using the Basic Version, you don't have to register. The demo version of PatternMaker that you downloaded or received on disk will allow you to explore the Home Version features for 30 days. After that time, the program reverts back to the Basic Version. You must register/purchase the program in order to keep using the full Home version features.

If you've purchased only a garment collection (ie. not the Home Version) you do not need to register. Your installation will automatically convert to the Basic Version after 30 days.

If you have purchased the Home Version, you do need to register in order to have access to the Home Version features more than 30 days from when you installed the program. What will I get? Registering gives you the benefit of having all the CAD drawing and editing tools available. The Basic Version will still run the macros, but you will not be able to draw or edit anything on the screen.

The registration process does not convert the demo macros into functioning macros. The demo macros (names beginning with "dl") are included simply to introduce new users to how PatternMaker's macro system works. You can delete the "dl" macros if you wish. You can continue using any macro collections you have from a previous version of PatternMaker.

What does it cost?

If you have previously purchased the Home Version of PatternMaker, the upgrade is free! You only need to register to receive the unlocking code. If you own the Basic version, or none at all, you need to buy one of the commercial versions.

How do I register?

Just follow the instructions in the "Register" dialog box (found on the Settings menu). Entering your name will generate the ID String. This string is what we need in order to issue your password. Note: We encourage contact by e-mail, in order to reduce the chance of error. Simply cut and paste the ID String from the Registration box into your e-mail message.

You get your registration unlock code from where you bought the program. Click here to go to the
